Something earns someone something

if your actions or qualities earn you something, they make you deserve to have it

His victory in the tournament earned him $50 000. / That performance earned her an Oscar as Best Actress.

His goals have earned him a place in the club's first team. / That mistake earned him a look of cold disapproval.

Stealing a car will earn you a few weeks in prison. / Cheating on a test will earn you a quick visit to the principal's office.

(positive = proporcionar / hacer ganar — negative = costar / significar)
